

March 2009

Dear

The Trustees of Crisler Library in Ephesos (CLE) are delighted to share with you a decision that was made a few days ago. As a one week “pilot program” CLE is organizing an Archaeology Camp at our facility located in the historic district of Ephesus from July 19 – 26, 2009.

The program will be taught by the following Austrian Professors of Archaeology, Architecture, and Engineering whose life long careers have been devoted to excavating the ancient site of Ephesus as well as restoration of the major monuments. They have written the books, analyzed the data and lectured in Europe and America about their Ephesus projects. We have also invited a specialist in Islamic monuments. Crisler Library in Ephesos is grateful for their willingness to share their knowledge in our Conference Hall and at the site.

The Faculty will also “teach Ephesus” as a model and platform as part of the cultural revolution for mankind and European civilization.

Professor Dr. Werner Jobst
Professor Dr. Ulrike Muss.
Professor Dr. Hilke Thur
Dipl. Ing. Gilbert Wiplinger
Professor Dr. Mahmoud Harwari

The Crisler Library in Ephesos Archaeology Camp is an international program without borders or nationality, open to all archaeology students who meet the Crisler Library standards of performance for research, scholarship and education as well as the Faculty qualifications for excellence in the scientific field of archaeology.

All applications will be reviewed by the Faculty and CLE Admittance Committee.

Enclosed is an outline of the daily program with 5 student applications. There will be 14 participants this first year: 2 from Germany, 2 from Sweden, 2 from Great Britain, 2 from Palestine, 2 from the United States 2 from Slovakia and 2 from Turkey. Applications will be processed on a first come first served basis.

The entire Crisler Library in Ephesos facility is wireless. Our new Cynthia Martin McBride Study Hall has 4 new computers, desks, and a Periodical Nook with pertinent magazines and newspapers. All books in the Research Library are catalogued according to the Library of Congress system. On line access code to the library collection is available on request. The Muharrem Kayhan Conference Hall is equipped with a power point projector, podium, VCR, AC, and is set up with classroom style tables and chairs. The Ephesus Study Guide written by members of the Faculty and their Austrian colleagues will be included in the camp costs and used as a textbook for the session. The Library has already begun its goal to have the most comprehensive collection about Ephesus, many of the volumes written by the Archaeology Camp Faculty.

Educational fees: To cover minimal honorariums and transportation for the Faculty
It would be wonderful if the universities would provide airline tickets and accommodation fees through a grant process at their respective universities.

We hope your university and students will respond to this unique opportunity and cornerstone educational experience at the greatest and largest Hellenistic/Roman site in the world.

With all good wishes,

Janet V. Crisler, President
Professor Ulrike Muss, Archaeology Camp Chair at Crisler Library in Ephesos
